Dear Dr Wharton,

It is my privilege to inform you that One Church One Child of Maryland has been awarded the Tinina Q. Cade Foundation 2007 Family Building Champion Award. The Family Building Champion Award is the highest recognition the Tinina Q. Cade Foundation provides. The purpose of the award is to recognize people or organizations whose activities positively affect families with infertility. This award year is particularly special because it is our inaugural year to offer the award. Nominee's names were submitted by Tinina Q. Cade Foundation volunteers throughout the country, as well as others who were interested in submitting names of worthy people and organizations. Our Board of Trustees voted on the nominees and based their decisions on a variety of factors. Congratulations on being offered this award. Most importantly- thank you for the important work you perform to help infertile couples become parents and to cope with infertility.

As an award recipient, we request that you participate in our inaugural Family Building Champion Luncheon, Saturday December 29, 2007 at Maggiano's Little Italy in Chevy Chase, Maryland from 11:30 until 2 PM. You will receive one complimentary ticket for the event but are welcome to purchase additional seats for your guests and other members of your organization. At the luncheon, you will be asked to give brief remarks about your work (3-5 minutes) and will be presented with a plaque commemorating your recognition. Information about awardees will also be placed on the Tinina Q. Cade Foundation's homepage (www.cadefoundation.org) and included in the November and December 2007 newsletters, which are disseminated to approximately 5000 people monthly. Finally- information about awardees will be included in the press release which we will issue to all national media outlets as well as fertility and adoption related organizations on December 10th, when we additionally announce the 2007 Family Building Grant recipients.

Sincerely,

Camille T.C. Hammond, MD, MPH
